Baltimore Greens March for Worker's Rights

The Baltimore City Green Party participated in the B-More Fair gathering and Human Rights Zone march on Saturday, April 18th. Members of the group met with local community organizers and spoke with many supporters at the event in Carroll Park, then marched with hundreds of supporters to Baltimore's Inner Harbor, where organizers announced Phillips' Seafood as the worst employer in the area. The organizers of the event called on the company to investigate and resolve its economic human rights violations against its employees.

The Baltimore City Green Party recognizes social and economic justice as one of its pillars, along with non-violence, ecological wisdom, and grassroots democracy.
